diatonic framework, but with liberal use of chromaticism and passing tones to create moments of poignant beauty. The opening of the piece, with its gentle arpeggiated figures in the accompaniment, sets a pastoral and serene mood. As the text unfolds, the harmonies shift and evolve, mirroring the emotional arc of the lyrics. Melodic Construction and Phrasing

The melodies in "What Sweeter Music" are undeniably Rutter's. They are lyrical, memorable, and possess a natural flow that lends itself to expressive singing. The main melodic lines are often characterized by their stepwise motion and occasional leaps, which are expertly placed to add emphasis and emotional weight. The sheet music reveals how Rutter crafts phrases that breathe, with carefully indicated slurs and dynamic markings guiding the performer towards an interpretation that is both musical and emotionally resonant. The way he sets the text is also crucial; each word feels naturally placed within the melodic contour, allowing the meaning and emotion of Herrick's poetry to shine through. The interplay between vocal lines and the accompanying instruments is also a key feature. Often, the melody is echoed or supported by a countermelody in another voice part or in the accompaniment, creating a rich and engaging musical tapestry. The recurring motif of the angel's song is treated with particular care, often presented in a higher tessitura, evoking a sense of heavenly purity.

Structural Integrity and Form

"What Sweeter Music" typically follows a relatively straightforward structure, often a strophic or modified strophic form, where the music for each verse is largely the same or undergoes subtle variations. This allows for a sense of familiarity and reinforces the devotional message. However, Rutter is adept at introducing subtle development and variation to prevent monotony. The sheet music will indicate where dynamics change, where textures thicken, or where tempo subtly adjusts to add interest. The introduction and a concluding section often frame the main body of the piece, providing a sense of completeness. The use of a key change or a modulation, even a brief one, can effectively signal a shift in mood or emphasize a particular lyrical idea. The overall form of "What Sweeter Music" is designed to be both satisfying for the listener and manageable for the performer, contributing to its enduring popularity.

Vocal Parts and Accompaniment

The piano part, in particular, is often rich with arpeggiated figures and chordal textures that enhance the overall mood. For directors working with orchestral accompaniment, Rutter's arrangements often include string parts that add a beautiful warmth and depth, creating a truly transcendent experience. Rutter's scores are replete with indications for crescendos, diminuendos, pianos, and fortes, guiding the choir towards a nuanced and emotionally charged interpretation. The ebb and flow of the dynamics should mirror the gentle, devotional character of the text, building to moments of profound awe and receding into moments of tender introspection.

Articulation and Phrasing

The articulation of vowels and consonants is paramount for clear diction and expressive singing in "What Sweeter Music." The sheet music will often indicate slurs to guide legato phrasing, encouraging a smooth and connected vocal line. Breath marks, though not always explicitly written, should be judiciously placed to support the natural phrasing of the text and melody. The goal is to create a seamless and flowing musical narrative that draws the listener into the heart of the devotional message. Emphasis on specific words or syllables, guided by Rutter's musical settings, can further enhance the emotional impact. A well-articulated rendition will ensure that the beauty of Herrick's poetry is conveyed with clarity and sincerity.

Balance and Blend

Achieving a perfect balance and blend between the vocal sections and between the voices and the accompaniment is essential for "What Sweeter Music." The sheet music provides the blueprint, but the conductor and singers must bring it to life. In passages where the melody is carried by a specific voice part, the other parts should support it without overpowering it. The accompaniment should always serve the voices, providing a foundation rather than competing with them. The shimmering effect of a well-blended choir singing "What Sweeter Music" is one of its most captivating qualities.
