The term "my baby just cares for me sheet music" can refer to many different things. The key is to select an arrangement that suits your instrument, skill level, and performance goals.

For Pianists:

Nina Simone's piano accompaniment is a masterclass in jazz improvisation and rhythm. Look for arrangements that capture this:

1. Piano Solo Arrangements: These will contain the melody and a fully notated left-hand accompaniment, often reflecting Simone's signature stride or syncopated patterns.

2. Piano/Vocal Arrangements: These include the vocal melody and a piano accompaniment, which can be helpful for singers who want to accompany themselves or for pianists who want to follow the vocal line closely.

Listen to Nina Simone's recording (or other versions you admire) while following along with your sheet music. This helps connect the written notes to the actual sound and provides context for the musical phrasing and dynamics.

7. Practice with an Accompaniment:

If you're a vocalist, use the piano part on your sheet music to practice. If you're a pianist, find a drummer or bassist to play with, or use backing tracks if available. This simulates a real performance scenario.
